V.—Department of the Treasury: Educational Activities.

United States Coast Guard: Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn.[1]

In times of peace the Coast Guard operates under the Treasury Department. In times of war or when the President so directs it operates as a part of the Navy, subject to the orders of the Secretary of the Navy.

VI.—Department of the Interior: Educational Activities.

(1) United States Bureau of Education: Personnel, pp. 1-6; Alaskan schools. See under Principal State school officers; county and other local superintendents of schools; superintendents of public schools in cities and towns.

(2) Office of Indian Affairs: Indian schools, B. S. Garber, chief of division.

[1] By the act of Congress approved Jan. 28, 1915, the Revenue-Cutter Service and the Life-Saving Service were combined into the Coast Guard, and the titles of the former services then became obsolete. All duties previously performed by the Revenue-Cutter Service and the Life-Saving Service are now performed by the Coast Guard. Former revenue cutters and former life-saving stations are now called Coast Guard cutters and Coast Guard stations, respectively. The officers and men of the two services were transferred to corresponding positions in the Coast Guard by the terms of the act.

VII. Department of Agriculture: Educational Activities.

The department, through the States Relations Service (A. C. True, director), affiliates with the State agricultural colleges and experiment stations, under the acts of Congress granting funds to these institutions for agricultural experiment stations and cooperative extension work in agriculture and home economics, and in carrying out the provisions of acts of Congress making appropriations to this department for farmers' cooperative demonstration work, investigations relating to agricultural schools, farmers' institutes, and home economics and the maintenance of agricultural experiment stations in Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and Guam.

VIII. Department of Labor: Educational Activities.

The Division of Citizenship Training of the Bureau of Naturalization has charge of the work of promoting instruction and training in citizenship responsibilities of applicants for naturalization by the public schools. This promotion work is now being carried on in over 3,200 cities and towns throughout the United States.

It furnishes textbooks, free of charge, to these students, and presents certificates of proficiency and of graduation jointly with the public school authorities to the adult foreigners in these classes who have taken steps to become citizens of the United States.

The public schools are conducting these classes jointly with the Division of Citizenship Training in industrial plants, mines, and logging camps, as well as in the regularly recognized public school buildings throughout the United States. It furnishes naturalization forms to employers of foreign labor, to groups of employees, and to other organizations to aid foreigners in their desire to become American citizens, and in stimulating a desire on their part to attend these classes for citizenship training in the public schools throughout the United States.

[1] The Federal Board for Vocational Education has been charged with the responsibility of reeducating disabled soldiers and sailors. It is the intention of the board to use the resources of existing institutions and, so far as practicable, to train men in institutions as near as possible to their homes. The board is limited in its work of vocational education to beneficiaries of the war risk insurance act. Men are received for training after they are discharged from the hospitals and from the Army.
